GLOBAL DESIGN (PIC #01)

The main Application is a Dashboard opened in the "BrokerPlanning" browser tab.

This Dashboard has 2 widgets:

- Widget 1 (left) is a grid with a Field Link
- Widget 2 (right) is a form with a button (let's call this button Btn1)

When the Field Link of the grid is clicked, it refreshes the Form on the right with the client info

The button Btn1 of the Form on the right is a Link Button set up as described on PICS #02 to #05.

The click on Btn1 opens a Tab Application described starting at PIC #06. The Tab Application is opened in a new browser tab. See PIC #06 further below.

The new browser tab title shows "Jef Déglon" which is correct. This is the client name. This is the main client Tab Application with 5 tabs. In the header you can see the ID of the client. This ID is the one saved in the database. This will help us figuring out the issue later on.

We can see that the correct ID has been passed through the global variable named "prm_client_id" as described in PIC #04.

Now let's click on the tab "Détails" of "Jef Déglon" (ID = 1). See below the SQL "WHERE" clause. It is now the ID # 2 that is used for the global variable "prm_client_id" because it has been changed in the main Dashboard Application when we change the client by clicking on "Henri" (PIC #11).

MY QUESTIONS ARE:

- 1. How can I store the ID of the client in a Tab Application? There is no event no fields available! I need to have a different ID in each Tab Application which in this case are individual browser tabs. How can I save the ID of the current client in a Tab Application?
- 2. Is there a way to keep a variable that can be seen only by the current browser tab?
- 3. As we could see, a button link (like Btn1) opens the Tab Application in a new browser tab and not in a new tab WITHIN THE CURRENT APP. An "Edit link" in a grid opens the linked app WITHIN THE CURRENT APPLICATION (see PICS #15 and #16). I was not able to open a Tab Application from an Edit Link! The Tab Applications are not available in the applications list (PIC #17). Is there a way top open a Tab Application from a grid Edit Link?
- 4. Whatever the option I use for viewing a client info in a Tab Application (PIC #18) either a new browser tab or a new tab within the current application, I'm facing the same issue: no way to store the ID of the client in the Tab Application in order to open its details with the correct ID. Do you have any suggestion about this?
